STOKE AND FEICHT DRUG CO.

Will Buy Five or Six Drug Stores and also Manufacture Supplies. H. Alex Stoke, of Reynoldsville, Charles M. Feicht, of Punxsutawney, and three other persons have organized a stock company to be known as the Stoke & Feicht Drug Company. This company will buy five or six drug stores in towns of this section and conduct a chain of stores. The company has bought one of the finest drug stores in Clearfield, and the Feicht drug store in Punxsutawney and Stoke drug store in Sykesville are now included in the chain of stores, making three stores in control of the Stoke & Feicht Drug Co. at present. They will buy at least three more stores. Mr. Feicht, a member of this company, expects to open a drug store in Reynoldsville, but it will not be included in the chain of stores and Mr. Stoke will not be connected in any way with the Reynoldsville store.

It is the intention of the Stoke & Feicht Drug Company to manufacture a line of pharmaceuticals, physicians supplies, etc., for wholesale.

Drowned Near Brady's Bend.

W. C. Whitehill, of Pittsburg, brother of David C. Whitehill, editor of the Falls Creek Herald, was drowned in the Allegheny river, Tuesday, at Lower Hillville, near Brady's Bend, while crossing the river in a boat. Mr. Whitehill came up here about two weeks ago to visit relatives in this section, and on Monday morning he left the home of his brother in this place for Brookville, remaining there with a brother and sister until Tuesday morning when he started to visit another sister, Mrs. R. Jay Karns, who lives near Brady's Bend. In order to get there, it is necessary to get off the train at Lower Hillville, a flag station along the river division of the Pennsylvania, and be rowed across the river in a skiff. Mr. Whitehill was apparently well when he got into the boat, but when almost across he became dizzy and fell into the water, which was high and flows swiftly at this point. Help was at once sent for but the body was soon carried out of reach and the heroic efforts to rescue the drowning man were useless.—Falls Creek Herald.

WANT THEM TAXED HIGHER.

Petition Will be Presented to Council for Maximum License Fees.

The man that sold goods from a wagon on our streets several nights the past week and only paid a license fee of three dollars each evening for the privilege, aroused some of our business men so much that a petition was circulated to be presented to town council requesting that the burges be instructed to charge street sellers, canvassers and peddlers the highest license fee provided for in ordinance No. 38 for such privilege, which is $25.00 a day. Following is a copy of ordinance No. 38: Section 1. That every person canvassing from house to house in the borough of Reynoldsville, for the purpose of selling or soliciting orders for books, pictures, photograph albums, clocks, watches, pocket knives, silver-plated knives, forks or spoons, spectacles, eye-glasses, carpet sweepers, baking pans, bed spreads, patent medicines, plaster paris goods, bronze and paint, soap, tea, coffee and spices, tin ware, gent's shirts, furnishing goods, clothing, by sample, carpets, hosiery, handkerchiefs, lace, needles, thread, embroidery, blankets, rugs, stationery, groceries, piece goods, boots or shoes, groceries to private houses, by wholesale or retail, peddlers of wagons, sleighs and carriages, whether selling by sample or otherwise, shall take out a license from the Burgess and pay the fees hereinafter required, before doing or offering to do any business in the said borough.

Section 2. The fees for license under the ordinance shall not be less than ten dollars ($10) nor more than twenty-five ($25) per day for each and every day so engaged, provided that this ordinance shall not apply to those holding mercantile license within the borough nor to persons resident in the county. The merchants who have to pay mercantile and other taxes and who also help to keep up the town should be given some protection from street sellers who pay a paltry two or three dollars for privilege of getting out on the street and by some or tummy story attract the crowd and then sell their stock in trade. It is surprising how readily people buy from the man who sells on the street corner and canvassers, and then generally pay more for what they buy, when quality of goods are considered, than they could buy from home merchant. We were informed by one of our business men that on Friday evening people were almost crawling over each other in their anxiety to get a bunch of articles the man on the wagon was selling for $1.50 when the same lot of goods can be bought at his store any time for $1.03.
